These information about the page will be very useful to whom they are more familiar other than Rasm Utsmani (It is an Arabic writing script) Mus'haf.

Comparison and analytical study on Holy Qur'an recitation.

Our endeavor makes things easier for comparison and analytical study on Holy Qur'an recitation. When we are adopting "the page" as the master portion for our videos, it gives great help for the college and university students who are researching on various kind of recitation of The Holy Qur'an. The teachers can adopt our HD videos to illustrate it through high end big screens. The users can easily jump between reciter by reciter by using our easy navigation options. Kindly refer for more details on comparison and analytical study on Holy Qur'an recitation along with illustrated examples: <https://www.quran.surf/comparison/>

Unique specialties of our HD videos at a glance.

1. Highlighting Qur'an text portion

Our videos highlight the Qur'an text portion along with beautiful recitation. Here Qur'an ayas are subdivided as per the Tajweed rules. (Tajweed – It is the set of rules governing the way in which the words of the Qur'an should be pronounced during its recitation.) We did not subdivide the aya to highlight them separately for the portion that is “Better to continue but permissible to stop” according to Tajweed.

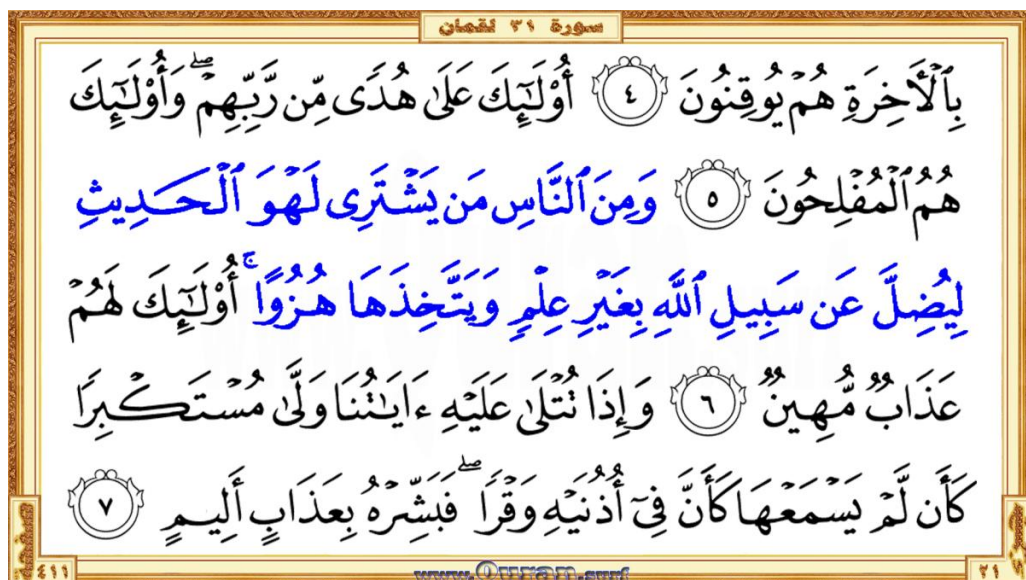

2. Only five lines of Qur'an on each screen; It is best viewable on small and big screens!

There only contained a maximum of five lines of Quran verses on one screen along with the beautiful border. It gives a perfect view on small screens as well as big projector screen.

3. Valuable additional info on each screen

There has included the surah name and its series number on top center part of the border of each screen. It also included page number of Mus'haf (Print version of Holy Qur'an according Rasm-Utsmani script) and juzh number on bottom corners of the screen.

Example screen:

Whenever viewing our video you can easily jump to other reciters videos or relevant surah or page videos by using these information and by using our common structured short URLs. Suppose, if you are viewing the video for page 411, you can view its surah video by creating its short URL by taking its surah series number from the screen. So its surah short URL will be end on /s31/.

4. First Moment Screen

There has a one moment screen at first and last part of each video. This screen only visible if you stopped the video at that portion. This screen looks like similar to the thumbnail preview of the video.

Page video first moment screen / thumbnail screen example:

Above screen contained following info

- ☞ Page number
- ☞ Juzh number
- ☞ Name of the surahs those included in the page
- ☞ Name of the reciter
- ☞ Short URL for the HD video

Surah videos & special aya (Eg: Ayathul Kursi) videos also have similar kind of first moment screen. Those contain relevant information accordingly.

5. Second screen contain full Qur'an page view

The very second screen of each video will look like as:

It is similar to the first moment screen by replacing the central portion with full page of Holy Qur'an. Second screen of the video continues on the screen around 5 seconds. The similar kind of view can see for two and half seconds just before last moment.

6. Scrolling texts on second screen

While displaying the second screen the video shows three lines of text that scrolls from bottom part to the top. Those lines are:

- ☞ Page number / Surah Name

- ☞ Name of the reciter
- ☞ Short URL for the HD video

7. Easy recognizable short URLs

Whenever publishing video clips we are providing short URLs for that video post, more reciters' videos for the related portion and more portions videos for the related reciter. It follows a common format for these kinds of short links. It can illustrate via some examples:

- ☞ Our first page videos can access via <https://www.quran.surf/1/>
- ☞ Surah 36 Yaseen videos can access via an URL that ends with /s36/
 - ☞ /a2/ stands for Ayathul Kursi & /a3/ stands for Amana Rasul.
 - ☞ URL that ends with /afs-s36/ provide Yaseen video that recited by Afasi.
 - ☞ URL that ends with /sgmd-604/ provide the video for page 604 that recited by Saad Al-Ghamdi.

Short URLs are very self explanatory and it is a best tool for the teacher to provide specific links to the week students. The videos are accessible by using these short URLs without installing any kind of special apps.

Beyond above explained navigation links, we are providing the next and the previous portion links those are linked respective video pages reciting by the same reciter. These links will be added just below the video upon the availability of the respective next and previous posts for the same reciter. For example: www.quran.surf/afs-s110/

The easy navigation links will be very convenient for the user to navigate through videos without interruption on continuity.

Easy navigation links are available through following icons:

Right Indicating Icon: Previous portion video – reciting by same reciter.

Left Rotating Icon: More reciters videos on respective portion of The Holy Qur'an.

-  You are requested to fully aware about the holy aim – that is the memorization of Holy Qur'an. Initially we request to give utmost respect on any portion of The Qur'an which is the word of Allah. You do not forward Quran videos to third party, regardless of their desire to receive them.

The name of the folders can be as afs_01_pages, afs_02_pages ... and afs_24_pages. Here the 'afs' is the abbreviation of reciter name 'Mishary Al Afasi'. You can use 'surah' instead of 'pages' in the folder name when you are storing surah video files separately for each study set. If you are using this naming format for folders it will give you the right sort order according to their names. If you are downloading the zipped files for each study set, it already contained this kind of named folders.
